

City Makes Merry As Victory Comes

Excitement Of Tuesday Morning Grows To Riot Of Noise At Night

Climaxed their day of double-barreled celebration, New Castle citizens again went wild Tuesday evening when they heard the announcement that they had been expecting for so many hours.

Hardly had President Truman's statement of Japan's acceptance of the surrender terms been broadcast when the town exploded in a wave of excited and relief. Cars were streaking down toward town and by ten minutes after 7 the business district was wider awake, more crowded and more confused than it had been all day.

The town had quieted down during the afternoon in a tense and belatedly disappointed attitude, as again the official news, a few presumable "leak" and even the most common sense were becoming impatient.

It was with gratitude then that they "took the lid off" as soon as they knew that the end of the war had really come. All the incidents of the day's early celebration were repeated with emphasis, including the mob-covered cars and trucks, the costumes, the kissing, the impromptu band, the confetti and streamers, the laughing and crying and shouting.

Even Mayor John Haven had to step in to help the police force handle the swarming crowds who celebrated and kept on celebrating until they were forced to go home because of the rain. And the first thing many people heard this morning was more horns, starting in all over again.

Shards in the Pacific, many of which the United States is likely to demand to guard against future "Pearl Harbor" attacks.

2. The extent of Russian rights in Manchuria, where she is expected to insist on regaining the rights of free access to Pacific warm water at Port Arthur—lost to Japan in the Russo-Japanese war.

3. Methods to be used in establishing a freely and popularly chosen form of government by the Japanese people themselves.

Must Sustain Emperor

The extent to which the Japanese emperor and his prerogatives in relation and government actually control the Japanese people may soon be shown. His agreement to surrender his armed forces and his nation now faces an acid test with the military leaders directed to issue orders to their forces to lay down their arms.

Many hints have come out of Japan that some uncertainty existed there on the emperor's power to hold the people in line. There have been repeated public pleas for "national unity" in the crisis. So far the military figure has affirmed his allegiance to any publicized document involving surrender. At the time of Mr. Truman's announcement the Japanese people had not been told of the impending event.

Reaction Unpredictable

What the reaction will be in Japan is unpredictable. If the Japanese fighting forces and their leaders lay down their arms at Hiroshima's command it will prove that he can control them. His power of leadership will be established. The frequently voiced contention of Undersecretary of State Joseph C. Grew that he might prove an asset during occupation may prove well founded.

If his authority is not sustained, he will have to be scrapped by the allied occupation forces. But the occupation job will prove long and arduous.

There was no demonstration there on this day.

The Germans accepted the end of the war as a glimmer of hope for swifter recovery in the battered Reich.

They are hoping that it will mean they can defeat the cold and hunger which threatens them during the coming winter because transportation can be used to haul civilian supplies rather than troops and equipment.

"Following this," Halsey declared, "instrumentalities must be set up to educate and divorce the Japanese from their barbaric traditions, teachings and thoughts."

"This will require military might for implementation and the very wisest understanding and statesmanship."

Halsey called for "no let down" and warned of "long and trying periods of watchful waiting."

TWO DAY HOLIDAY MARKS WAR'S END

led the flames with newspapers while tolerant policemen stood by. Servicemen and women were predominant in the crowds that thronged the business section of the city.

Pittsburgh, the city that produced the steel to whip the Japanese, looked like one that had had a street carnival broken up by rain.

And it was.

An early morning shower caused thousands of revelers, still swarming the streets, to scatter for their homes.

Torn Paper

Today the confetti and torn newspapers and ticker tape were pasted to the pavement making the look like floors after the wallpaper hanger had finished.

Smithfield street and Fifth avenue were deserted when the dawn broke on the victory holiday. A single air force lieutenant, very tired and nearly asleep where he stood, was waiting for a way home. In a forgotten corner, smeared with wet paper, was an automobile hub-cap.

Last night this same intersection was blocked off by the thousands of young and old who overflowed the walks and danced arm in arm in the street.

Lots of noise, augmented by the pure joy of being alive, was the method most persons used in making their celebration.

Youngsters and oldsters swung about the street hugging for trumps, shooting off firecrackers, and riding in their automobiles with one hand on the horn buttons. Every one laughed and sang. Girls serenaded and kissed servicemen.

Five persons were injured when two automobiles collided. None was a serious injury. The coroner reported one death "due to excitement."

At Bedford, 153 interned Japanese diplomats, including Hiro Oshima, the former Japanese ambassador to Berlin, were given the news and remained "dead-panned."

You (the United States) have given your utmost for the empire," Oshima said, "and we will do the same."

Today, bars and downtown stores and restaurants were closed. The streets were empty.

Churches were open for prayer of thanksgiving and services were held at noon for all downtown congregations, and passersby.

Telephone operators reported "all quiet" after a hectic night during which delay on calls ran up to three hours. The Steel City's Chinatown, which had a similar celebration to that occurring downtown, was asleep.

Three French sailors shared soundly after enjoying the midday celebration, the cause of which they were unaware. They spoke no English.

The plants where the "staff" that did the job, was made were again in operation for the most part. Most of them had already made arrangements to observe the official V-J holiday. Most of the area and mines were closed for lack of inspection. Some plants were closed because of absenteeism no longer important to a war effort.

Pittsburgh's official celebration was held in front of the city auditorium at noon. Mayor Lawrence, Seely and other local dignitaries addressed the gathering.

Police arrested 13 drunks who disorderly celebrants, one person because of assault and battery and one drunken driver.

Friday was tentatively set for the date of the flight, subject to change because of weather conditions.

MacArthur said the Japanese must be "a competent representative empowered to receive in the name of the emperor of Japan, the Japanese imperial government and Japanese imperial headquarters, the requirements for carrying into effect terms of surrender."

PRESIDENT TRUMAN TURNS GOVERNMENT TO PEACE PROGRAM

to test the mettle of any soldier First he must enforce the peace program order that the "Big Four" ordered through President Truman at 7 p. m. EWT Tuesday night.

The second is to conduct the actual signing of a surrender document between the "Big Four" powers and defeated Japan.

The "Big Four" powers authorized President Truman to conclude the final surrender of Japan.

Japs Send Note

The Japanese opened peace negotiations early Saturday by sending a note to the "Big Four"—United States, Great Britain, Russia and China—asking for American Secretary of State Byrnes under the date of August 11, the Japanese government have the honor to communicate to the governments of the four powers at Tokyo.

"1. His majesty the emperor has issued an imperial rescript regarding Japan's acceptance of the provisions of the Potsdam declaration."

"2. His majesty the emperor is prepared to authorize and ensure the signature by his government and the imperial general headquarters of the necessary terms for carrying out the provisions of the Potsdam declaration."

His majesty is also prepared to issue his commands to all the military, naval and air authorities in Japan and all the forces under their command wherever located to cease active operations to surrender arms and to issue such other orders as may be required by the supreme commander of the allied forces for the execution of the above mentioned terms."

The paragraph used to describe Japan's acceptance of the Potsdam declaration was supposed to symbolize capitulation.

The emperor's reply was transmitted to Mr. Truman Tuesday. It was an abrupt acceptance of the "four power" terms.

The president immediately ordered a message sent to the emperor directing Hirohito to order the Japanese army, navy and air force to cease firing. He sent a second order to the American armed forces of land, sea and air to stop their fighting wherever the local commanders are in.

It was apparent that the allied and Japanese interest faced a very difficult problem in reaching a solution. This was the result of miscommunication problems.

Isolated Fighting

In Washington one can still hear faint echoes of the fighting between the Japanese army, navy and air force to cease firing. He sent a second order to the American armed forces of land, sea and air to stop their fighting wherever the local commanders are in.

Gen. MacArthur meanwhile faces one of the greatest problems of his amazingly successful military career. It was the question of arranging the actual signing of a surrender document by the Japanese high command.

The Japanese declaration of unconditional surrender was delivered to President Truman at 8:15 p. m. EWT by Secretary of State Byrnes after being received from Tokyo to Bern to Washington.

The Japanese statement read: "Communication of the Japanese government of August 14, 1945, addressed to the governments of the United States, Great Britain, the Soviet Union and China."

With the reference to the Japanese government, the Japanese government of August 14, 1945, addressed to the governments of the United States, Great Britain, the Soviet Union and China."

Four Peter, Paul and their friends, Mrs. J. Campbell and Mrs. H. Koenig, enjoyed a picnic recently at the home of Mrs. Fred Taylor, a former extension supervisor. Miss Traber and Miss McClach were present on the dinner that was served on the lawn under a beautiful shade tree.

Let Us Give Thanks

While we glory in this hour of Victory, let our exultation be tempered by the realization of the supreme sacrifice made by our fighting men and women; and the never-to-be replaced emptiness left in the hearts of their loved ones.

Unite with your friends and neighbors and with the people throughout the world in a prayer of thankfulness for this God given peace... a prayer for the solace of those bereaved... a prayer for all enduring faith.

The strain of war has disheartened many of us. We are often so blinded we cannot see God's outstretched hand. Let us give thanks for Victory.

Chinese Moving
Back To Nanking

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15.—(INS)—Announcement by a spokesman for the Chinese government that Nanking, pre-war capital of China, would be re-established as the national capital was broadcast today by Chungking radio.

The broadcast, recorded by FCC, said the spokesman, Dr. T. Chang, disclosed the move would be made as soon as the government could arrange the transfer from Chungking.

Shyness and loneliness, general and social inferiority feelings, lack of incentive, inability to co-operate with others, anxiety, phobias and parental domination are combated by social clubs.

blazing tropical sun and the horror of drifting helplessly in life-rafts, a few rafts and hanging on to bits of wreckage.

Guam To Levie
The Indianapolis was struck on the night of July 30-31, proceeding unescorted from Guam to Levie, after having delivered part of the atomic bomb which dropped on Japan a week later.

Scene of one of the worst sea disasters of the Pacific war was 230 miles north of Peleliu in the Palau Islands. The Indianapolis was due at Tacloban on Monday, July 31, but no dispatch that she was overdue was sent out until 48 hours after that time. It was not until five days after she was hit that the destroyer escort Doyle, which picked up some survivors, discovered the tragic fate of the Indianapolis and flailed fleet headquarters.

Of the total complement only 316 survivors were rescued alive, and three of these later died at Peleliu naval hospital.

Fifty Per Day
Lt. Cmdr. Lewis Barnes of Manchester, Mich., surgeon aboard the Indianapolis, said those who were lucky enough to find themselves alive in the water, lived only at the rate of about fifty a day for four days.

Hynes said more than 500 swimmers died from the sinking ship after the magazine exploded. Only a few of these found refuge in the sea, drifting about in life-rafts, going mad from thirst and the tropical glare of the sun.

Many in a delirious state drank water and died in agony in Hynes' group of about 400.

One of the survivors who drifted four days and five nights in a raft was skipper of the Indianapolis, Capt. Charles McVay of Washington, D. C. He was in the emergency cabin bunk when jolted awake at 12:15 a. m.

The Indianapolis had been returning from San Francisco after urgent repairs to damage caused by a kamikaze attack near Okinawa last March 31.

In the time the captain could get down the ladders to inspection of damage to the ship, the Indianapolis had listed 60 degrees to the starboard and was down by the head.

As the Indianapolis went down the beam end, McVay walked out on the port side and was swept off, he ship by a wave. Then the huge warship slid from his sight.

McVay got aboard a crate of potatoes and later found two empty rafts, collecting nine enlisted men the next two days, including George Kozlov, On City, Pa.

With little food and little water they hung on to the raft fighting off a shark until picked up by the Doyle on the fifth morning after the sinking.

Haynes swam from group to group, trying to give first aid to many who were badly burned by the blast. Some had broken arms, legs, and one had a broken neck.

On the fourth day a search plane touring on patrol spotted the survivors and led other planes to the scene.

One plane, a Catalina, crew picked up 56 men, all in a bad condition, and with a time-man crew had 65 aboard the plane—lamed, blind and stacked on the wings and fuselage.

Allied Airplanes Drop Leaflets Reporting Surrender To Jap Island Troops

MANILA, Aug. 15.—(INS)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Allied supreme commander for Japan, gave a "cease fire" order today to his troops in all areas.

In a special communique, MacArthur announced: "Offensive action in all sectors has been halted. Some air patrolling for purposes of observation will be necessary."

The communique was followed immediately by one which stated: "The Japanese capitulation having been announced, no further formal communications will be issued from the headquarters."

The cease fire order was flashed his morning to American and Australian forces fighting from Bougainville to Northern Luzon.

End Oppression, Hate, Says Pope

Pontiff Prays For Reign Of Truth, And Justice In Speech To Women Workers

By MICHAEL CHINIGO
U. S. S. Staff Correspondent

ROME, Aug. 15.—Pope Pius today called for an end of all hate, the ambition to dominate and the oppression of the weak.

Speaking to 6,000 women workers in the Vatican Hall of Benediction a few hours after peace had been declared, the Holy Father said:

"We pray to see a rebirth of the world, wherein peace, truth and justice will reign for tranquility of the brotherhood of all peoples and all nations."

The Pope said that "now that this monstrous massacre and inhuman destruction and horrible devastation is ended, we would desire to see an end also of all hate; an end to every ambition to dominate; an end of all arrogance of the strong; an end of all oppression of the weak."

The Holy Father declared that women should have parity with men in all walks of life and receive equal salary for their work.

He praised the United States and Great Britain for their leadership in the freedom of religion, and added:

"The church can do much to solve the social problems when allowed to operate without restriction."

The Holy Father made his appearance before the women workers less than 12 hours after peace had been declared.

Monsignor Carroll of Pittsburgh, spokesman for the Vatican secretariat of state, said the Holy Father "was very glad" when he heard the news that peace had at last come to the world.

Monsignor Carroll said the Vatican had taken no official stand on the retention of Hiroshima.

"That is considered a national matter," he said.

Ask Allied Fleet To Not Approach Too Close To Japan Homeland Till Armistice Signed

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15.—(INS)—Tokyo radio today admitted post-surrender air attacks on allied bases and the Third Fleet and urged allied forces not to approach Japanese home waters "until the armistice is signed."

The broadcast, beamed in English to North America, was recorded by the FCC.

Part of the Japanese air force is reported to have made attacks on the allied bases and fleet in the south, the Japanese radio said, adding that imperial headquarters was trying to "transmit the imperial order to every branch."

"While the imperial headquarters is trying its best to prevent the recurrence of such incidents," the broadcast said, "the allied fleet and navy are again requested not to approach the Japanese home waters until the armistice is signed."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Experts on far eastern affairs in Washington declared today that sporadic fighting may continue in the Orient despite the official Japanese surrender.

They said hostilities may not completely end with Hirohito's capitulation, but from government sources and from congressional leaders, who have been students of Japanese psychology for years.

While others expressed the belief that the emperor's decree ordering all Japanese to lay down their arms, known throughout the far-flung Japanese empire, all resistance and kamikaze attacks would cease.

Independent fighters. Far eastern experts were frankly pessimistic, the news from Japan does not indicate that Japanese suicide units were still attacking China, Korea and British ships eight hours after the emperor's surrender decree had been announced.

This is strictly in line with Japanese psychology, declared Seno'o, a Tokyo expert, who said that the Japanese mind is not yet ready to accept the idea of a complete surrender.

Rep. Mansfield (D) Mont., who made a survey of the far eastern situation last year for President Roosevelt, expressed grave fears as to the attitude that may be taken by Japanese army commanders in the field, especially in Manchuria, will continue fighting regardless of what the Japanese government does, declared the Montana congressman.

Discharge Regna. Case Regna, youth who was arrested Tuesday and during a time at the city jail with Louis Jones and Policeman Finner, stated a statement of Finner's lip was distorted today, according to police.

Ration Book Still Needed For Whiskey

State Board Has Not Yet Decided
How Long Rationing Is To Last, Official Says

HARRISBURG, Aug. 15.—(INS)—The State Liquor Control Board said today that whiskey rationing will be continued "at least several months" after the end of the war.

A spokesman said although supplies had loosened during the past year there was still not enough whiskey to eliminate rationing.

While plans have no been completed for tapering off restrictions, there will be other rationing periods when the current one ends August 25," he asserted.

The official predicted the four-week period would be continued. Consumers were expected to be limited to one-fifth of a gallon and retailers supplies held to 70 per cent of normal purchases, he indicated.

"The board has not yet come to a decision as to how long the rationing will have to last," the spokesman stated. "There is much more whiskey available and in greater variety than there was two years ago, but some control must be maintained to assure fair distribution."

Pennsylvania has had 21 rationing periods since the distribution system was inaugurated November 15, 1943.

Board members were considering issuing cards to replace war ration book number three in event whiskey sales must be curtailed beyond the first of the year. Consumers currently purchase allotments by presenting the book which becomes invalid in January.

Should substitute cards be issued, Pennsylvania's over 21 would have to be reissued, he said.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

attitude of disapproval and constant rebuke and nagging should this youth vary from the standards his parents have in their own minds set up for him. This too will be strongly resented by this reticent youth and instead of causing him to approach these standards, he knows his parents desire for him, it will tempt him to stray farther from them.

Yet it will be hard for the loving parents to keep still if they see the youth making what they are sure are grievous mistakes in conduct. Nevertheless, if they wish to give him of their best they will trust to a few calm, quiet suggestions at psychological moments when they see that such results are possible.

Nor will such problems for parents be basically different from those which face the returning veterans.

Many parents will be tempted to lavish much money, a car and to let him use the family car excessively to the great inconvenience of the rest of the family. Such parental kindness can harm him to an end. He doesn't need things so much as he needs opportunities and inspiration for self-development and self-reliance. Parents need to let the returning youth take responsibility not only for his own choices but also for the furthering of his own education, so far as he can, and for his own financial support as far as reasonably possible.

Legion Head Gives Thanks

Urges Home Front To Put House In Order To Make Fit Place For Returning Vets

By EDWARD N. SCHLEIBERLING
National Commander, The American Legion
Distributed by International News Service

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—This is an hour for fervent prayer. Let us all thank God that the most terrible war in all history is over and that the bloodshed and carnage of the battlefield are over. And then let us beseech Him to give us the power to make the most of the opportunity for good which peace brings to this and to all other nations.

In the great masses of trained men in our armed forces, in the mighty armies of destruction which were their weapons in the skilled hands, laboratories and factories at home, we have the means to achieve more in both spiritual and material ways than humanity has achieved in all time.

Hold Gains
If the opportunity which we now have should slip from our grasp, humanity may well prepare for total destruction. All of the progress which civilization has made up to this time will have gone for naught.

The immediate task before us is to reach around the world with ships, planes and all other means to bring about the speedy return home of those to whom this event must have a significance far greater than anything which we at home experience.

If our mobilization is great, theirs must be boundless.

At the same time, let us be sure that our home is in order so that it will be a fit place for the battle weary to rest their heads while they prepare for the days ahead.

The responsibilities of peace have always been great. Now they are even greater. In the hollow of our hands we hold the future. America must lead the way for only we have been spared the destruction of war.

Adds Strength
The advent of peace gives added significance to the San Francisco Conference charter. May the good faith and good will of the nations of the world, under God, sustain the spirit of the charter to assure the peace of the world.

On this V-J Day the members of the American Legion and auxiliary join with all other Americans in the expression of our thanks to Almighty God for the successful ending of the war. Our prayers go out to those who now have the responsibility for establishing a lasting peace.

SPOTLIGHT Of Today

(International News Service)

Every old-line army man, Gen. Douglas MacArthur today, shaped up his personal belongings, his uniforms and appointments for a triumphal ascendency to power over Emperor Hirohito and his millions of Japanese subjects.

The commander-in-chief of all ground forces in the Pacific took the notification of his appointment as supreme commander of occupation forces in Japan almost as a matter of course. He indulged in no jubilant spree; no wisecracking predictions of the revenge he would take for Corregidor and Bataan in his position as Hirohito's boss.

Instead, MacArthur reverted to the almost mystic language he has employed in explaining Allied gains all the way up the long, hard road from Australia to the Philippines and Okinawa.

"I thank a merciful God that this mighty struggle is about to end," he said. "I shall at once stop hostilities and further bloodshed. The magnificent men and women who have fought so well for victory will return to their homes in due course and resume their civilian careers."

"They have been good soldiers in war—may they be good citizens in peace."

From MacArthur, famed for his tactfulness, his love of military pomp and flowery language, that was a simple and sincere tribute to fighting forces of the United Nations.

The words seemed to echo what millions of persons have felt about the general—that war has humanized him. That he is the best man for the job of dictating to Nippon.

Canada now ranks second among the gold-producing countries of the world.

Nutrition Chief Asks Richer Bread

Enrichment Of Bread Should Be Compulsory In Postwar Period, Says Expert

HARRISBURG, Aug. 15.—Vitamin enrichment of bread is used as a health protection measure by Anna dePlanter Bowes, chief, nutrition division, Pennsylvania Department of Health.

Writing in the forthcoming issue of Pennsylvania's Health, official bulletin of the department, Mrs. Bowes says:

"For many years mass nutrition studies have been conducted by Dr. Pauline Berry Mack of the Pennsylvania Department of Health. Results of these carefully conducted tests on individuals and groups at all social and economic levels give clinical evidence of widespread dietary deficiencies among Pennsylvanians. Anemia and B complex deficiencies, especially as marked and occur in over half of the people tested."

"Enriched bread is the easiest and cheapest way to add dietary essentials which can help to greatly reduce anemia and the fatigue and low vitality which results from B complex deficiencies. Such conditions contribute to absenteeism and accidents at home and in industrial plants."

"Eighteen states have already passed laws to continue the benefits of enriched bread for their citizens in the postwar period. New York and West Virginia, our neighbors, are among those who took favorable action. Pennsylvanians are not yet so protected."

Visiting Preachers At Highland Church

Dr. C. J. Williamson And Rev. Clifford Pollock To Preach Here This Month

Dr. Clarence J. Williamson, a former pastor of the church, now a member of the faculty of Pittsburgh-Kenna seminary, will speak Sunday, August 26. Veterans Laws Are Discussed

Joseph Foley, Local Contact
Representative Of Veterans Bureau Addresses Lions

Laws and benefits affecting veterans were discussed by Joseph Foley, local contact representative of the U. S. Veterans Bureau, with officers in the Lawrence Savings and Trust Co. building, at the weekly noon luncheon meeting of the Lions club in The Castleton, Tuesday noon.

Mr. Foley stated that as more and more men are getting their discharges from service, business is increasing with the Veterans Bureau and will continue for a period of at least ten years.

He stated that any veteran who has an honorable discharge from service is entitled to hospitalization, provision of course, that there is a bed available for him in a veterans hospital. Conditions have been let for additional buildings to care for the increasing number of patients. He stated that there is a grave need for more nurses at the present time.

Pension Ratings
Discussing pensions, he stated that any man who becomes disabled through service is entitled to a pension, which ranges from $11.50 per month for a ten per cent disability to $115 for a total disability. The sum of $35 additional per month is granted for the loss of an arm, leg, or eyesight.

In the case of a widow, whose husband is killed in action, a grant of $50 per month is made, with an additional allowance for children.

In case of non-service connected disabilities, up to $50 for total disability is paid, with an increase after a period of 10 years.

Widows of men whose death is not service connected receive an award of $35 per month, with an additional sum for each child, the maximum payment being $74 per month.

Parents are also granted pensions where dependency occurs, the sum totaling $25 each per month.

Should Keep Insurance
Mr. Foley urged veterans to hang onto their life insurance and to convert it soon after discharge.

Three types of policies are available, ordinary life, 20-payment life, and 30-payment life.

Insurance from this war is payable under two options. Where the beneficiary is under 30 years of age, payments are made in the sum of $551 per month per thousand of insurance carried. Where the beneficiary is over 30 years of age, it can be paid in monthly payments of lesser amounts for life, with the face of the policy going to those with an insurable interest in the beneficiary also dies.

Under the G-1 bill, education is available with a year's schooling for the first 90 days of service, and day for day the period served over that amount, providing the veteran was not over 25 years of age on induction. One year of service will provide two years of school, two years of service, three, etc. The government grants the veteran an allowance of $500 per year for books, tuition, etc., and $50 per month for maintenance if he is single, and $75 if married.

Under Public Law 16 if a veteran is disabled to the extent of 50 per cent, or where his disability is at least 10 per cent, which prevents him from doing his old job, he is entitled to a four-year education, and $82 per month for maintenance if single, and $103.50 if married.

A veteran who has 90 days of service or more is entitled to receive a loan from a recognized institution, if he is able to prove he can make repayment within a period of twenty years. Loans are available up to $4,000 of which the government will guarantee payment of 50 per cent.

Cubs See Lead Cut As Phils Win Close One

Brooklyn Dodgers Lose To Cards And See Pennant Hopes Fade Today

PIRATES WIN TWO FROM BEANTOWNERS

By ILS KONKUN
(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The end of the season, which was expected to be a close one for the Brooklyn Dodgers, was not helped today when they lost to the Philadelphia Phillies, 3 to 2.

The stack of the Dodgers hit a new low yesterday when they lost another heart-breaker to the champion St. Louis Cardinals. Unless they can get going in the series with the league-leading Chicago Cubs starting in Brooklyn today, they can say good-bye to 1945 championship dreams.

By the same token, if the Dodgers can stage a comeback against Chicago St. Louis, they will have a chance. The Cards took a firm grip on second place in the National League yesterday when Whitey Kroyer, who specializes in efficient home runs, hit a home run in the ninth that gave the Cards a 2 to 1 decision over the Dodgers.

This was a tough wallop for Ralph Branch of the Dodgers, who held the Cards to three hits. The Dodgers collected only five singles off Harry Brecheen.

Cubs' Lead Cut
The Cubs lead was cut to 3 games when Leroy Pim lost a 2 to 1 game to the Cardinals. The Cardinals collected only five singles off Harry Brecheen.

Pirates Win Two
Pittsburgh's Pirates won two games in ten minutes, 6 to 2 and 7 to 3, in the American League. The Pirates won the first game from the St. Louis Browns, 6 to 2.

In the only other game played in the junior circuit, Jim Beak of Cleveland blanked the Boston Red Sox with three hits, 3 to 0.

After the defeat by Ebbets of the Spanish Armada, Don Pedro's castle was brought to Tor Bay, on which the town of Torquay, England is situated. An old 13th century building housed the survivors and is known to this day as "the Spanish barn."

Southworth Sees Baseball Boom As Result Of Peace

Manager Of Cardinals Predicts 1946 Season Will Be Greatest In Game's History

RETURNING PLAYERS WILL BE WELCOMED

By BILLY SOUTHWORTH
Manager of the St. Louis Cardinals
(Written especially for N.C.S.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The problem of the returning veteran in baseball has never been so predominant as it is today.

With the war finally and officially won, it is only logical to suppose that next summer will be a great one for baseball and players coming out of the services.

It is my opinion that there will be a whole of a difference between the ballplayer coming home from the wars and that same player in pre-war days. Naturally, I can only base my statements on the players I have seen—those who have already returned or those who have played against the Cardinals on the service teams.

Hard To Stop
But from what I have seen, there are two factors which have combined to make the returning veteran a ballplayer who will be mighty hard to stop.

The first of these factors is the physical condition of the individual player. I know there have been exceptions—there have even been cases where a man in the service did not get a chance to play ball at all—but by and large the service players have seen some "ball" after their other work was done, and as a result of this and the fine physical conditioning given by Uncle Sam the homecoming baseball man will be in the top shape.

The second factor is one you can't actually put your finger on, but I would call it the will to win. These boys who have been in service have had a chance to think things over, to realize that lakadassal play or failure to hustle on the ballfield will get them nowhere when they return to civilian life.

Cites Example
To give you an example, the Cardinals played an Army team at Fort Leonard Wood not so long ago. The only former major leaguers on the Wood team were Pitcher Harry Gumbert, who used to hurt for us, and Ray Mack, Cleveland second baseman.

Well, we beat them, but we had to go nine innings of downright baseball to do it. Gumbert pitched a whole of a ball game, and we finally won by the meagre score of 3 to 0.

You've seen the performance of those veterans who have already returned—Red Ruffing, old or I should say young—Red who came back to ball for the Yankees' pitching staff, and you can't force Peanuts Lowrey of the Cubs, or Hank Greenberg of the Tigers, or the other named Dave Ferriss.

Will To Win
We played an exhibition game at Baltimore, Maryland, and all those Navy ballplayers talked about was "when we come back."

They'll have the fire and the verve to win. They'll be in top physical shape, so there won't be any fear of somebody's going state on you at a crucial moment during the flag chase.

And as a result you're going to see some terrific baseball.

FAIR OR FOUL

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)
PARIS, Aug. 15.—An afternoon in the Bois De Boulogne, or how not to get to the horse races in France. Paris probably is the most beautiful city in the world with its great monuments and parks and tree-lined streets, but it is as hard to get lost here as anywhere else and about 10 times as hard to get directions. The bicycle-riding Frenchmen almost invariably indicate that they know what you are talking about but no two will give you the same directions for getting where you are going.

Ask Policeman
We had driven for what seemed like hours in a dozen different directions trying to find Longchamps or Auteuil, the horse parks.

Once we stopped three Gendarmes and tried to explain that we wanted the race track.

"The Cheval horse track," I said, throwing my French around.

One of the coppers began to search his pockets as though he might have a horse concealed about his person and the two others stood like Mack Sennet comedy cops with hands outstretched palm upward and their eyes rolling. The one with the mustache finally enquired the other two in a squabble and I said to Corp. Nardinet Meunier, of Portland Ore., "What might as well get going down one of the roads that have the Bois De Boulogne, a big park to you."

Still Confused
As we left, the three coppers climbed aboard their bicycles and still squabbling, one of them broke through the line of the other two and promptly was mouse-trapped.

We drove another half hour and saw two solemn looking citizens on a bench and there was something strangely familiar about them.

"They look like horse-players," I said.

"Longchamps?" the Corporal inquired.

"Longchamps?" the Frenchman repeated. They pointed in opposite directions.

"You got to give it to them in French, Corporal," I said. "This way, Pardon, Monsieur. Directions, Sil Vous Plait Longchamps Cheval horse track, On?"

"On?" he said of them said.

Pic Sid Panzer, who used to work on the New York Daily Mirror, began to jump up and down in the street working his hands like a jockey coming down the stretch.

The two Frenchmen laughed and beat each other on the back. One of them began to imitate Private Panzer. Passersby on their bicycles paid us little heed. A truckload of U. S. soldiers sped by and one of them bawled why don't you get a horse.

Finally Give Up
For some unaccountable reason, one of the Frenchmen finally understood Private Panzer's French, which is one of the miracles of this war, and the Frenchman's face lit up while he began to dig in his back pocket. He came out with the French equivalent of the daily racing form.

That called for another celebration by the two Frenchmen and then one pointed to the roof of a building about a block away behind some trees. That was Longchamps, but it was closed.

About two hours later we found Auteuil. It was closed and we asked an old Frenchman in a beret and long apron where the Chevals were running. He stood for a moment listening to Panzer's French and said in perfect English "You'll have to go over to LeTote."

However, we decided to give it up for that day.

Roussos-Newman Certain Starters For Pitt Eleven

Newman Gets End Job And Big Mike Roussos Goes To Fullback Spot

GEORGE KOHUT IS TACKLE ASPIRANT

By BOB BUTLER
(International News Service Sports Writer)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 14.—Clark Shaughnessy, master of the "T" formation and Pitt Panther professor of football, today put his 1945 abibi in the record.

Shaughnessy said he didn't expect the approaching season to be any different at the cathedral of learning than the pair of preceding years.

The jungle cat, under Shaughnessy, dropped five of eight games in 1943 and five of nine to show a slight percentage improvement last season.

One Bright Star
Shaughnessy could see only one bright star on the Panthers' gridiron—Army is not on the 1945 schedule. Last year the Cadets romped over the Pitt gridgers for 69 points while "accidentally" permitting one cat touchdown and a conversion for a lopsided 69 to 7 score.

Notre Dame is on the 1945 list, however, and that boded no good for Shaughnessy, as he recalled a dark afternoon last year ending in a 38 to 0 Irish victory.

Shaughnessy came to Pitt under orders to restore the steel city school to its gridiron heights it once enjoyed and to hold the job with "students." The Panther coach casts one eye on the coming season and the other to the next, or the next, when he will be able to carry out his orders. He is building for the future.

Not Entirely Green
Meanwhile, Shaughnessy plans to "hold on" to keep football contacts with the middle western schools where the game is an important part of the autumn curriculum.

It's discouraging to add a new team each year, Shaughnessy said, but there'll come a day.

The "T" professors' 1945 entry will not be entirely green.

To begin with he hopes to have two experienced guards on hand—Francis Mattioli, of Brackehead, and George Handl, of Aspinwall. Both filled the spots last year, although Mattioli was on the sidelines for the greater part of the season with a back injury.

Newman At End
Denver Newman, of New Castle, looks certain for one end position and Leo Skalvany, of Plymouth, will fill the other flank spot if he is not in the army.

For a kicker, Shaughnessy has John Rozenski, 215-pounder from Plymouth, Ed Wojciechowski, 200 pounds from Vandergrift, George Kohut, 215-pound army veteran of New Castle, and George "Buck" Johnson, six feet, five-inch giant of Pittsburgh.

Shaughnessy pre-seasoned John Kohut, of Donora, as his center.

Roussos At Fullback
Mike Roussos, 215 pounds of New Castle, played a tackle in Shaughnessy's 1944 ensemble, but the professor plans to try Mike with the line bucking detail this year. At present, he has the fullback position under control.

Elsewhere in the backfield, the Panther team looks like this: Jack Paton, six-feet and 175 pounds, from Sewickley, at quarterback; Don Matthews, 165 pounds of Coatesville, left half; and Edward Zimman, 185 pounds of Uniontown, blocking back.

Paton started out at end in 1944 and ended up as a defensive halfback and the squad's best defender against passes.

The Pittsburgh team will play Illinois, West Virginia, Bucknell, Michigan State, Notre Dame, Temple, Purdue, Ohio State, Indiana and Penn State in that order.

EAST VS WEST AGAIN
NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(INS)—A squad of sixteen players to represent the West against the East in the All-American boys baseball game at the Polo Grounds August 28 was ready for action today. The Western team, which was beaten by the East last year 6 to 0, will again be managed by Ty Cobb. Babe Ruth will again mastermind the Eastern team.

This Western squad will gather in New York next Tuesday.

Although at the present time most wooden schoolhouses are painted white, a few generations ago it was customary, especially in New England and other northern sections of the country, to paint frame schoolhouses red, not because that color was preferred, but because red paint was the cheapest kind obtainable.

Fanaticism Marks Japan's History

Bloodshed, Violence, Piety
And Isolationism All A
By JOHN E. LEONARD
(U.S.S. Staff Correspondent)

Japan is prostrate in defeat today, but she also is about to enter another era in her long and stormy history which has been marked variously by bloodshed, violence, extreme piety, and the most absolute isolationism.

U. S. Navy Commodore James Biddle arrived at Uraga in 1846 with two ships and an invitation to Japan to trade with the United States. The commodore very roughly man-handled, accepted a sibilant apology and departed.

The Dutch had done much better in 1600 when the vessel Laclede touched Futatabi.

Isolation Period
But shortly thereafter Japan entered an absolutely fevered period of isolationism.

The government ruled that no ship big enough to cross the ocean would be built, all Spaniards—Spanish-Japanese relations had been most unhappy—should be executed and no Japanese national was to go abroad under pain of death.

The Portuguese government was made to understand this outlook and in the sixteen-forties dispatched four envoys with 37 companions to Japan from Macao. Their mission was to seek trade.

Japan's answer was to behead everybody in the unfortunate group. Thirteen of the heads, carefully wrapped and preserved, then were sent back to Macao with a message bidding Portugal "To think no more of us, just as though Japan were no longer in this world." Portugal adopted a gentle attitude toward this behavior and in 1647 tried again. No lives were lost but nothing was gained.

Commodore Perry
Commodore Perry arrived at Uraga July 8, 1853, with four ships and had a thousand armed men. He paid a formal visit to the emperor, distributed numerous toys and other small gifts, and after ten days sailed away, promising he would return early next year.

Perry returned in February of 1854, this time with 20 warships and 2,000 men. Thus, Japan was introduced formally to western ways after six weeks of the most careful and proper negotiation.

Then, as now, the Japanese were a people whose pride in their race reached what to occidentals was a fantastic proportion. Such pride of race naturally can be carried to excess, and the Japs appear to have done just that in regard not only to their racial pride but their abilities to wage war.

The American army, navy and air forces—have given the Japanese nearly four years in which to observe not only the efficiency of American arms but the proficiency with which American fighting men are able to handle them.

With these people still strange to us, our fighting qualities may well be the key to eventual lasting peace between the United States and Japan.

War Ends For B-29 Bombers

Force Of 806 B-29s Make Final Attack On Japs Before Surrender Comes

GUAM, Aug. 15.—(INS)—The war ended suddenly for the B-29's today when as many of them were in mid-flight returning from the last mission of World War II.

The final Superfortress strikes were made by 806 B-29's. All returned safely to their Marianas bases after a three-pronged fire-bomb assault against three cities on Honshu, in which 6,000 tons of the deadly incendiaries were dumped on Akita, Isewaki and Kumagaya.

The blazing attacks were carried out with the aid of the "mike" revolutionary new radar bombing aid, news of which was released only yesterday by the War Department.

Two of the 209 escorting fighters were shot down by flak over their targets, while two others were reported missing. However, pilots of three of the fighters were rescued from the sea after bailing out. An Army PBV also was shot down by the Japs over Tokyo Bay.

Urges Hastening Of Courtmartial

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(INS)—Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.), today urged the Army and Navy to order the courtmartial trial of Rear Admiral H. E. Kimmel and Maj. Gen. Walter Short as a result of the Pearl Harbor disaster.

"These officers are entitled to a trial," said Ferguson, "and we should have the trial for history's sake."

"Public opinion is a great force in this country and if we are going to have public opinion we must have the truth. What happened at Pearl Harbor was a turning point in our history."

Ferguson pointed out that resolution, of which he was author, postponed the statute of limitations until six months after the end of the war. The trials were delayed, he said, for reasons of military secrecy which do not exist now.

Admiral Kimmel, who commanded the American fleet at the time of the Japanese attack which opened the war, has requested his trial.

General Short, who commanded ground forces in Hawaii, also is understood to desire a trial.

Yanks To Govern Baden, Bavaria, And Wurttemberg

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(INS)—American occupation forces today were given the German provinces of Baden, Bavaria and Wurttemberg in the area bordered by the Rhine, Switzerland, Austria and Czechoslovakia.

The governments of the United States, France, Britain and Russia made public the exact lines of delineation of their occupation areas in a four-power announcement.

The American area is primarily agriculture but one of the most attractive parts of Germany. It includes the cities of Mannheim, Stuttgart, Nuremberg and Munich.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(INS)—The New York stock exchange remained closed today and tomorrow in observance of the end of the war. The club exchange also shut down for two days and other markets were expected to follow suit.

Emil Schram, president of the stock exchange, declared the market would return as speedily as possible to a sound post-war economy.

Japs Continue Suicide Attacks

Tokyo Warns Third Fleet
Against Approaching
Japan Until "Cease
Fire" Order

By JOHN R. HENRY
U. S. Staff Correspondent

GUAM, Aug. 15.—Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported an attempted treacherous attack by Japanese kamikaze pilots against the U. S. Third Fleet today, hours after the American commander had issued a "cease fire" order.

Attack Near Honshu

Nimitz announced the attack was in progress in the vicinity of Japan's main island of Honshu and that five Jap suicide aircraft had been blasted from the skies.

International News Service Correspondent Julian Hart, aboard Vice Admiral John S. McCain's flagship, reported that the Jap suicide attack, after continuing eight hours after McCain's carrier planes returned their bombs into the sea and called off the war against Japan.

(At midnight Pacific war time, just when Admiral Nimitz issued a communique reporting the Japanese aerial attack, Tokyo radio announced that "the imperial order to cease fire is expected soon" but added:

"Until then enemy men of war and other vessels of war are warned against entering Japanese home waters so as to avoid any untoward incident.")

Follows Emperor's Speech

The sneak thrusts by the enemy planes were launched after Emperor Hirohito had called upon the 100,000,000 Japanese people and armed forces to quit their hopeless fight before their homeland is "obliterated" by overwhelming Allied power and the atomic bomb.

Admiral Nimitz immediately informed General Douglas A. MacArthur, Supreme Allied Commander for Japan, of the attempted attack and requested him to inform Japanese authorities that the Third Fleet would "destroy any Japanese aircraft" approaching Admiral William F. Halsey's warships.

"Since 1200 (noon) Japanese time 15 August," Nimitz announced, "five Japanese aircraft have been destroyed."

Aim For Aircraft Carriers

Nimitz carefully worded communique emphasizing the word "since" noon Japanese time, clearly meant that Jap suicide pilots are trying to make banzai dives on Third Fleet battleships, battlewagons, cruisers or destroyers, with the aircraft carriers of Vice Admiral John S. McCain's Task Force 38 their prime objectives.

It was at noon Japanese time Wednesday (8 p. m. PWT Tuesday) that the Mikado told his subjects that he had ordered Japan's surrender to the Allies to prevent the "ultimate collapse and obliteration of the Japanese nation."

The treacherous Japanese action came four hours after Japan's surrender, after was confirmed by President Truman and Admiral Halsey received Fleet Admiral Nimitz's "cease fire" order.

The attacks were a forbidding indication that when MacArthur's army of occupation enters Japan it may encounter fanatical resistance from some Japanese, scornful of their Mikado's imperial surrender decree.

HOSPITAL DRIVE

GROVE CITY, Pa., Aug. 15.—The annual maintenance drive, asking $8000 for the Grove City hospital will be conducted here Sept. 18-22, according to an announcement made yesterday by the hospital's board of trustees. D. P. Black, for many years president of the board, will be in charge of the drive.

American Can Output Now To Be Diverted To Civilian Channel

Lack Of Plant Conversion Problem
Will Mean Immediate Switch,
Officials Say

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—American Can Company's 67 plants, one of which is located in New Castle, Pa., are now able to divert their output almost immediately into civilian channels, according to D. W. Figgis, president.

"We have no important plant conversion problem," Mr. Figgis said. "Availability of steel and tin will make possible a rapid expansion into peacetime container manufacture which will require employment averaging 20 per cent above the level of normal prewar days."

Some time may elapse before tin shipments can be resumed from the Malay states, but research during the war years has enabled the can company to effect great savings in the use of tin which will permit maximum utilization of stocks now on hand, Mr. Figgis pointed out.

The company, Mr. Figgis continued, has been working for a number of months on plans for the re-employment of its men who have gone into the armed services. The veteran re-employment program, he said, contemplates new scientific methods of matching jobs and aptitudes.

King Promises Cooperation As Parliament Opens

King George Pledges Unity With Allies In Speech To House
Of Lords

LONDON, Aug. 15.—(INS)—King George VI pledged his government to close cooperation with all peace loving nations of the world today as he opened sessions of the newly elected British parliament.

Speaking in the House of Lords, the monarch told his audience that in this hour of total allied victory it was fitting that humble thanks be given to God.

He paid tribute to the fighting men of Britain and her allies.

"The surrender of Japan has brought the end to six years of warfare which caused untold loss and misery in the world," the king said.

"In this hour of deliverance it is fitting to give humble thanks to God."

To my armed forces, as well as all others who have borne a share in bringing about this great victory and all our allies, our gratitude is due, remembering especially those who laid down their lives."

Red Forces In Manchuria Gain Final Day Of War

MOSCOW, Aug. 15.—(INS)—Soviet forces driving southward through the Japanese half of Sakhalin Island before Emperor Hirohito announced the Japanese surrender were revealed today to have made fresh gains of more than 13 miles.

The Soviet communique issued last night said the Russian First Far Eastern Army raced along the Pootranchnaya-Harbin railway to storm over the Mulanchiang river. Moscow announced that the Soviets seized the rail junction town of Mulanchiang along with several other towns and villages.

Soviet Second Far Eastern Army troops advanced along both banks of the Sungari river for new gains of more than 31 miles.

Between August 9 and 13, the communique added, more than 8,000 Jap officers and men were taken prisoner by the Soviets.

Streets Cleaned During Night

Street Department Force Turns Out
At Midnight; Streets 'Back
To Normal'

When people left for home last night, tired from exerting pent up feelings for four years and expressed in various ways Tuesday, the streets were littered with paper of all kind, tin cans, metal pots and whatnot. However, when those who had to work today, V-J day, they arrived downtown and found the streets almost as clean as grandmother used to pick the Thanksgiving turkey.

The street department force went to work at midnight. The sweeper also was in operation and this morning when Director of Streets Jim Gibson looked over the downtown section he saw the results of the efficient street department's work. Cans were yet cleaning some of the sidewalks today and by night the streets will again show their sprightly appearance downtown.
